MELANIE WRIGHT & ANDREW VAN NORMAN SAINSBURY

OCTOBER 26, 2013

FROM MELANIE: We chose to get married at a beautiful maple syrup refinery. The ceremony started late in the afternoon, in a cheerful cabin with a fireplace. We took many photos with the fall foliage in the background. During the reception, our funny friends delivered a comedic roast. It even included a rendition of Celine Dion's "It's All Coming Back To Me Now." Everyone danced while a Québécois folk band played. Our guests danced the night away underneath beams decorated with strings of lights—some were even dancing on tables! At 11 p.m. the DJ took over and played all our favourite songs. There was an after-party in the lumberjack lodge, and in true Québécois fashion, poutine was served as a late-night snack. Maple lollipops on ice were also a special treat.
